Background

Focused on ‘furnishing modern creativity’, Industry West provides furniture solutions for consumers, architects, interior designers.

Industry West enlisted Adaptive Campaigns to increase commercial buyer engagement with its brand and drive visits to its website through a real-time programmatic advertising campaign.

Challenge

Wanting to source commercial buyers from across various industries and company sizes, Industry West had a limited B2B database from which to target this audience. Adaptive Campaigns was faced with the challenge of finding ‘in-market’ commercial buyers of furniture and understanding the right messages to deliver to them.

Solution

Using Bombora’s B2B demographic and intent data, Adaptive Campaigns were able to identify companies in-market for office furniture and split the campaign based on company size.

The Adaptive Campaigns’ real-time creative would identify if a user was residential versus commercial and serve them the correct call to action (e.g. ‘Shop now’ or ‘Become a Member’).

The ads would remember each user’s campaign position, and pick up where they left off or send them to the next series of content in the sequence.

We founded Adaptive Campaigns on the premise that better data will lead to better creative. Bombora data was an essential element in outperforming benchmarks by more than 10 times.

“We’re excited about our integration with Bombora to enable Account-Based Creative. It enables Bombora customers to buy their data once and use it twice: once for media and once for creative.”

Sam Karow, Co-founder and CEO, Adaptive Campaigns
