

Biography - Jonathon Schuster - VP of Product Management

Jonathon Schuster leads Bombora's product management organization and brings over 10 years of product management experience from across the adtech and martech industries.

Prior to joining Bombora, Jonathon lead growth product at LiveRamp where he focused on Television, International, and Strategic partnerships. Prior to LiveRamp Jonathon led product, partnerships, and corporate development at DialogTech, the world leader in voice analytics for marketers.

Jonathon focuses on building teams of impact driven product managers who can deliver meaningful business value within the context of an agile SaaS environment.

Jonathon holds a Masters in Business Administration in the Finance of Innovation and Marketing from Indiana University's Kelley School of Business and undergraduate degrees in English and Jewish Studies from Indiana University.

